

“Think I’m annoying?”

In Delaware, it’s the law for the driver and all passengers—even those in the backseat—to wear a seatbelt. And as the driver, you’re responsible for everyone in your car buckling up. Wear a seatbelt, or get a ticket and pay the fine. Not so annoying now, am I?

Did you know in Delaware it’s the law for the driver and all passengers—even those in the backseat—to wear a seatbelt? And as the driver, you’re responsible for getting everyone in your car to buckle up. If they don’t, you get the ticket and the fine, even if you’re wearing your seatbelt. So how about you buckle up, and I’ll stop dinging?
